

XM-Satellite Radio's weather and news channels have helped me tremendously. I've used these stations to check on weather for vacations, as well as local travel. I've subscribed to XM for about two years now, so the addition of Traffic and Weather stations was similar to "More for your Money". XM did not raise their prices when these stations hit the air. I do not think it is fair for the National Association of Broadcasters to decide that I don't get to listen to these stations even though I'm paying for them.
